2026 年 2 月阶段性测试

英 语

命题：老鼠窝英语命题组　　时间：120 分钟　　满分：150 分　　总得分：_____

第Ⅰ卷 听力部分

第一节（本题共 5 小题，每题 1.5 分，共 7.5 分。）

听下面五段对话，每段对话后有一个小题，请从题中所给的 A、B、C 三个选项中选出最佳选项，听完每段对话后，你将有十秒钟的时间来阅读有关小题和阅读下一小题，每段对话读两遍。

例：How much is the shirt？

A.9.25£　　B.9.75£　　C.9.15£

正确答案是 C 项.

1.Where does the conversation probably take place?

A. In a library.　　B. In a restaurant.　　C. In a classroom.

2. What is the weather like now?

A. Rainy.　　B. Sunny.　　C. Cloudy.

3. What will the man do this weekend?

A. Go camping.　　B. Visit a museum.　　C. Attend a lecture.

4. Why does the woman come to the man?

A. To ask for advice.　　B. To borrow his phone.　　C. To send an invitation.

5. How does the woman feel about the movie?

A. It's boring.　　B. It's moving.　　C. It's confusing.

第二节 （共 15 小题；每小题 1.5 分，满分 22.5 分）

听下面 5 段对话或独白。每段对话或独白后有几个小题，从题中所给的 A、B、C 三个选项中选出最佳选项。听每段对话或独白前，你将有时间阅读各个小题，每小题 5 秒钟；听完后，各小题将给出 5 秒钟的作答时间。每段对话或独白读两遍。

听第 6 段材料，回答第 6、7 题。

6. What is the probable relationship between the speakers?

A. Teacher and student.　　B. Classmates.　　C. Librarian and student.

7. What does the woman suggest the man do at last?

A. Write a new paper.

B. Talk to his teacher.

C. Add more references.

听第 7 段材料，回答第 8、9 题。

8. What are the speakers mainly talking about?

A. A weekend plan. B. A school sports meet. C. A basketball game.

9. When will the speakers meet?

A. At 2:30. B. At 3:00. C. At 3:30.

听第 8 段材料，回答第 10 至 12 题。

10. Where does the woman want to go?

A. The City Library. B. The Central Park. C. The History Museum.

11. How will the woman go there?

A. By bus. B. On foot. C. By subway.

12. What does the man remind the woman to do?

A. Take an umbrella. B. Buy a map. C. Avoid the rush hour.

听第 9 段材料，回答第 13 至 16 题。

13. What does the man think of his vacation?

A. Relaxing. B. Adventurous. C. Boring.

14. Where did the man stay during the vacation?

A. In a hotel. B. At a friend’s home. C. In a mountain cabin.

15. What activity did the man particularly enjoy?

A. Swimming in the lake. B. Hiking in the forest. C. Watching the sunrise.

16. What diden’t the woman do during the vacation?

A. She stayed at home.

B. She visited her grandparents.

C. She went to the beach.

听第 10 段材料，回答第 17 至 20 题。

17. What is the speaker mainly talking about?

A. School rules.

B. An introduction to clubs.

C. A voluntary activity.

18. When will the Environmental Club meet?

A. On Mondays. B. On Wednesdays. C. On Fridays.

19. What activity does the Art Club have this month?

A. A painting competition.

B. An art exhibition.

C. A visit to an artist’s studio.

20. Where can students get more information?

A. From the school website.

B. From the notice board.

C. From the teachers.

第Ⅱ卷 阅读理解

第一节 （共 15 小题；每小题 2.5 分，满分 37.5 分）

阅读下列短文，从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出最佳选项。

A

Sunrise Summer Camp — Your Best Choice for Growth!

Are you worried about your teenager spending the whole summer playing video games? Looking for a place where they can learn, grow, and make friends? Welcome to Sunrise Summer Camp, located in the beautiful Green Mountain forest.

We offer three main programs for teenagers aged 13-17:

Adventure Camp

Activities: Hiking, rock climbing, canoeing

Skill Focus: Teamwork, courage, problem-solving

Creative Arts Camp

Activities: Painting, photography, music workshop

Skill Focus: Creativity, self-expression, focus

Science Discovery Camp

Activities: Robot building, space exploration, coding

Skill Focus: Logical thinking, innovation, patience

Why Choose Us?

- Safe Environment:24/7 professional guidance and medical support.
- Expert Staff:All instructors are experienced and background-checked.
- Fun & Friendship: Make friends from different cities and create lifelong memories.

Dates:July 15～August 15 (Choose from 2-week or 4-week sessions)

Price:20% early bird discount before April 30th!

Contact:Visit our website www.sunrisesummercamp.com or call 400-882-3456.

21. What is the main purpose of this text?

A. To share a summer experience.

B. To introduce a summer camp.

C. To explain the importance of camps.

D. To compare different summer programs.

22. If a teenager is interested in computers, which program should he choose?

A. Adventure Camp.

B. Creative Arts Camp.

C. Science Discovery Camp.

D. Any of the above.

23. How can a parent get a 20% discount?

A. By choosing a 4-week session.

B. By signing up before April 30th.

C. By sending an email to the camp.

D. By inviting a friend to join the camp.

B

As a young girl, I loved sports, and I used to watch the Olympics with my dad, dreaming of being one of those athletes. I didn't know then that my life would lead me to cycling and give me the opportunity to achieve that dream. While many people might not be deeply familiar with cycling, everyone understands the significance of the Olympics. Just being chosen for this event pushed my career to a new level.

I was most excited that my family and friends could come to watch me participate and share the experience with me, for the Olympics were taking place in Paris. I was a much more experienced rider than I had been in Rio and Tokyo, which helped me stay calm and better understand the race. I hadn't seen the course yet, but I knew a classic-style race would be competitive and quite technical—all aspects I enjoyed. Being able to compete in such an environment, especially with the support of my loved ones, added a significant layer of excitement and motivation.

Staying at the Olympic Village was also an amazing experience. The large food courts were shared by all, meaning I could be having breakfast with someone I admired and watched on TV. We were able to stay and relax in the village after our competition, fully feeling the village's energy. It was like a small city for athletes, where we could observe how others prepared for their events and how they handled the post-competition emotions. Although the rules had changed, and we then had to leave soon after our events, the village kept exciting and encouraging us.

At the Olympics, we represented our country or region, and riders who were our rivals (对手) finally became our teammates for the event. The team atmosphere and mutual (相互的) understanding between each other were key, and I was lucky to be part of a supportive group of girls who shared the same goal.

24.Why was the author especially excited about the Paris Olympics?

A. She had become more experienced than before.

B. Her family and friends could watch her compete.

C. She had already seen the race course in advance.

D. The race style was exactly what she enjoyed most.

25.What can we learn about the Olympic Village from Paragraph 3?

A. Athletes could only stay there before their events.

B. It offered a chance to interact with sports stars.

C. The food courts were divided by country.

D. Athletes felt too nervous to relax there.

26.What does the underlined word "mutual" in the last paragraph probably mean?

A. Shared. B. Deep. C. Natural. D. Strong.

27.What is the main message the author wants to convey in the text?

A. Competing in the Olympics is a dream come true.

B. Winning a medal is the most important thing.

C. Training hard is the key to success.

D. The Olympics are more about competition than friendship.

C

February 7, 2026 —A new student learning group quietly launched today on a popular messaging platform. Named the "Secret Learning Lair" (老鼠窝学习组织), the online group aims to create a space where students can share learning resources and support each other.

The idea first came to Chen back in 2022, when he was just starting junior high school. "I was a seventh grader, and I often found it hard to get good study materials," he explains. "Sometimes my classmates had useful notes or practice papers, but there was no easy way to share them with everyone." He noticed that some students struggled simply because they didn't have access to the same resources as others.

For years, Chen kept the idea in his mind. "I knew a simple group chat could solve this problem," he says. "But I wanted to wait until the right time, when I could find people who shared the same vision." In late 2025, he finally met three like-minded friends: Marcus Wei, Leo Zhang, and Kevin Liu, who immediately understood what he meant. "We all had experienced that moment," Marcus says. "You need a certain book or a set of notes, but you don't know who has them or how to ask."

Together, the four designed a simple model for their new group. Members share notes, past exam papers, useful links, and learning tips in a dedicated group chat. Everyone is encouraged to contribute what they have and ask for what they need. "It's simple but powerful," Leo explains. "One person's waste paper can be another person's gold. We want to make sure no good resource goes unused."

The name "Secret Learning Lair" came from a joke during one of their planning meetings. "Someone said we're like mice—quietly collecting and storing things in our little hole," Chen recalls with a laugh. "And 'lair' just felt right—a safe space where members can comfortably ask for help without fear of judgment." The name stuck, and soon they were inviting classmates to join.

On its first day, the group already has 15 members, mostly from Chen's grade. The rules are simple: be respectful, share whenever you can, and don't ask for something without being willing to give back in some way. "It's not just about taking," Chen emphasizes. "It's about building a culture of sharing. When everyone contributes, everyone benefits."

The founders have bigger dreams. They hope to expand the group to include students from other schools in the city, creating a network where learning resources can flow freely. "There are so many talented students out there with amazing notes and study methods," Marcus says. "If we can connect them, imagine what we could achieve together."

For now, though, they are focused on building a strong foundation. "We want this to be more than just a chat group," Leo emphasizes. "We want it to be a community—a place where students feel supported and motivated to help each other. If we can achieve that, then the past four years of waiting will have been worth it."

28. What was the original problem that led Chen to create the group?

A. He failed his junior high exams.

B. He had difficulty sharing study resources.

C. He had no friends to talk to online.

D. He found school lessons too easy.

29.Why did the founders choose the name "Secret Learning Lair"?

A. Because the group chat is hidden online.

B. Because they collect resources quietly like mice.

C. Because they only accept top students.

D. Because they want to keep the group a secret.

30.What can we learn about the organization from the last two paragraphs?

A. It already has members from several schools.

B. It requires members to pay for shared materials.

C. The founders hope to connect more students in the future.

D. Most students prefer asking for help rather than giving.

31.What is the main purpose of this text?

A. To introduce a newly formed online study group.

B. To persuade students to study harder for exams.

C. To explain the importance of making friends.

D. To share the founder's personal life story.

D

In an age where new fitness approaches appear almost daily, one movement is drawing people's attention: walking backward. This unusual method is gaining popularity online and in the health circles. Fitness professionals share their backward movement on Instagram and TikTok, building a community of fitness lovers who have confidence in its benefits. But does this approach have staying power?

The advantages are more than just surface. Research shows backward walking activates overlooked (被忽视的) muscles, improving muscle balance and joint stability. For those with knee pain, it offers a low-impact choice that still strengthens legs and improves staying power, as the backward movement reduces joint pain while keeping workout intensity (强度). It also keeps balance and coordination (协调) by forcing the brain to adapt to new movement patterns, sharpening cognitive function, focus, and spatial awareness—turning a simple walk into a full-body and mind workout. Cardiovascular benefits shouldn't be overlooked, either. This effort can improve your heart rate just as effectively as forward walking, making it just right for busy schedules.

Surprisingly, walking backward isn't new: historical records show that it dates back to East Asian cultural ceremonies centuries ago, valued for benefits from physical fitness to mental sharpness. These traditions long recognized their power to balance body and mind, making today's fitness approach a reappearance of ancient wisdom.

Fitting it into daily life is simple. Beginners should start on flat, safe surfaces—like a quiet park path—to master the movement without the risk of falling over. Focus on short periods of time, and gradually increase the time as confidence grows. Many lovers fit backward walking into regular routines, changing between forward and backward movements to keep workouts dynamic (动态的).

More than a TikTok fashion, walking backward unites modern science with time-tested practice. It's a workout that challenges the body, sharpens the mind, and connects us to age-old wellness traditions. With proven benefits and easy integration, this fashion isn't just a passing one—it truly has legs.

32.What does the underlined phrase "staying power" in Paragraph 1 probably mean?

A. The ability to remain popular.

B. The strength to walk longer.

C. The skill to keep balance.

D. The energy to exercise daily.

33. According to Paragraph 2, which of the following is a benefit of walking backward?

A. It completely cures knee pain.

B. It requires less effort than forward walking.

C. It improves both physical and mental health.

D. It is more effective for heart health than forward walking.

34. Why does the author mention East Asian cultural ceremonies in Paragraph 3?

A. To prove that walking backward is a modern invention.

B. To show that the practice has deep historical roots.

C. To suggest that only Eastern cultures value this exercise.

D. To compare ancient and modern fitness methods.

35. What does the author mean by saying "it truly has legs" in the last paragraph?

A. Walking backward mainly exercises the legs.

B. The fitness trend is likely to last for a long time.

C. People need strong legs to walk backward.

D. The exercise has been practiced for centuries.

第二节　七选五（本题共 5 小题，共 12.5 分，根据短文内容，从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项，选项中有两项为多余选项。）

Jessica Nabongo longs to set foot in every nation. She started traveling at age four, along with her parents on family trips from Detroit, Michigan and completed her mission when she landed in the Seychelles, having visited 195 countries. ____36____Along the way, she became a writer, photographer, and passionate advocate for inclusive and ethical tourism.

Here she talks to us about her experience and tips for traveling better.

What inspires your adventures?

____37____I have a strong desire to see the differences and similarities in how people live everywhere in the world, even at home in the United States.

Did you ever experience any obstacles?

I don't believe in failure. ____38____Embarrassment isn't a natural human personality, in my eyes — it comes from socialization. If I fell over in the middle of Grand Central Station, I'd laugh at myself. I firmly believe that every failure in your life is just an opportunity to learn.

____39____

My mother has always said "humble (使谦虚) yourself". I appreciate it because when you travel, depending on your passport, depending on your social class, depending on so many different things, you can go to places with a lot of ego (自我), or you can humble yourself and know that everyone is equal.

What are some things people can do to travel more sustainably (可持续地)?

Single-use plastic is one of the biggest things harming Earth right now, so a lot of my focus is on that. 40 If you're in a restaurant and you don't have a big appetite, ask for a half portion. It's about being a deliberate (慎重的) traveler, just taking that extra minute to think how I can have a lower impact on this place that I'm in and on the planet in general.

A.But it's not just about the country count.
B.I believe failure is the mother of success.
C.Curiosity — that's what's always inspired me.
D.What did you depend on during your travel?
E.What's the best piece of advice you've received?
F.And I rarely feel embarrassed even in awkward situations.
G.But I also think it's important to watch how much you waste.

第三节　完形填空（本题共 15 小题，共 15 分。阅读下面短文，从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出可以填入空白处的最佳选项。将最佳选项填入题号前的括号内。）

A wheelchair has not become a barrier (障碍) for 55-year-old Zhang Ji who has visited 450 revolutionary sites across China in the past six years.

Zhang was 41 by genetic factors and at the age of 6, he developed Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease, a 42 that few people have. Despite his illness, Zhang's early exposure (接触) to 43 stories greatly shaped his viewpoint. "My father used to show me several biographies (传记) of disabled individuals like Helen Keller. I 44 similar books to read and became more and more 45," he recalled.

Zhang's mother also influenced Zhang's 46 towards life. "While the body may suffer from illnesses, the mind should be filled with 47," he said. Zhang's love for history 48 led him to the idea of visiting revolutionary sites across the country. He started this ambitious visit in 2017, accompanied by his 49 wife.

Every visit was recorded with a camera brought by Zhang, 50 over 40,000 photos, among which he chose nearly 500 for a book titled Forward. Due to muscle weakness, sometimes he has to hold up the 51 with his nose. When asked "Why not use a mobile phone or ask your wife for 52?", Zhang said that he 53 the view through the camera and believed that photography is a form of expression.

On World ALS Day in 2017 and 2018, Zhang 54 his photography work and collections. This year, again he donated his collection of books to the Xujiahui Street Library. "Life is too short. We need to broaden our horizons and 55 ourselves. Travel ten thousand miles and read ten thousand books," said Zhang.

41. A. warned　B. affected　C. chosen　D. confused
42. A. conflict　B. potential　C. condition　D. opportunity
43. A. horrible　B. romantic　C. inspirational　D. dramatic
44. A. sought out　B. turned down　C. sold out　D. made up
45. A. energetic　B. awkward　C. humorous　D. confident
46. A. attitude　B. concern　C. explanation　D. anxiety
47. A. challenges　B. sunshine　C. regret　D. imagination

48. A. suddenly B. extremely C. normally D. eventually
49. A. generous B. worried C. curious D. supportive
50. A. increasing B. reducing C. taking D. decorating
51. A. book B. camera C. mobile phone D. collection
52. A. care B. money C. help D. advice
53. A. refused B. enjoyed C. disliked D. ignored
54. A. donated B. bought C. sold D. threw
55. A. entertain B. enlarge C. encourage D. enrich

第Ⅲ卷 写作技能

第一节 语法填空（本题共 10 小题，共 15 分。阅读下面短文，在空白处填入一个恰当的单词或括号内单词的正确形式。）

At the height of the pandemic, when going to the gym wasn't an option, millions of people began exploring virtual (虚拟的) workouts from home 56_____ the first time. And many of them now say they won't go back. While this is 57_____ (clear) good news for the companies developing these systems, it has also helped people 58_____ don't feel comfortable in a gym or don't have time to get there.

Linda Munson, 56, put on quite a few pounds during the lockdown in 2020. Munson has never been much of 59_____ gym person. "I am very socially awkward. I get anxious about 60_____ (go) out," she says. One day in 2021, she was diagnosed with diabetes (糖尿病). That was her wake-up call. Then she started walking and cut out unhealthy food. One day, her son 61_____ (bring) home a VR headset which has a popular fitness app 62_____ (call) Supernatural, and she hasn't stopped playing with it ever since. It allows you 63_____ (box), swing (摆动) your arms at targets, and stretch with a coach in front of you. Munson has lost nearly 50 pounds in a year, hasn't had to take diabetes medicine, and can now play with her seven 64_____ (energy) grandchildren.

While gyms will probably always have devoted 65_____ (member), some people seem to be happy to work out in their living rooms with a little help from technology.

第二节 应用文写作（本题共 1 小题，共 15 分）

66.假定你是李华，你的英国好友 Jack 来信说，他最近在社交方面不顺利，总觉得融入不了新的朋友圈，请你给他写一封邮件，内容包括：

1.表示安慰；

2.提出建议。

注意:

写作词数应为 80 个字左右；

请按如下格式在相应位置作答。

Dear Jack，

_____

_____。

Yours,

Li Hua

第二节　读后续写（本题共 1 小题，共 25 分，阅读下面材料，根据其内容和所给段落开头语续写两段，使之构成一篇完整的短文。）

67.　Born and raised in California, Kenneth's world was shaped by the state's sunshine, its beaches, and the friends he'd kept since kindergarten (幼儿园). At 16, however, life took a big turn. His parents found new jobs in Ohio, forcing the whole family to move there. This wasn't an easy choice—it was tough to leave behind every familiar thing he cared about.

Along with the move, a new school was waiting for Kenneth. Every time he thought about saying goodbye to his old school, a sense of sadness came over him. The changes ahead—like the new city, the new school, and the strangers he'd soon meet—filled him with fear. He had no idea if he'd be able to fit in, or if loneliness would find him once he got there.

Following a long cross-country journey, the family finally arrived in Ohio and settled down. When the day came for him to start at his new school, Kenneth's mind swarmed with worries. What if the other students were unfriendly—even cold? And what if he couldn't make a single friend there?

The next morning, Kenneth was driven to school by his parents. The car stopped at the big brick building, and his heart beat fast. He hugged his mom and dad, took a deep breath, and got out. He anxiously walked toward the school gate with every step. It felt like he was stepping into a new world.

A friendly school secretary went to greet Kenneth when he entered. Noticing how nervous and shy he looked, she decided to start by showing him around the school yard. She led him past a modern computer lab, a science lab, and a gym with a basketball court—there, Kenneth imagined trying out for the school team. His mood lifted a little. Kenneth began to think the school was nice, and he started feeling a little better.

Finally, they arrived at the teaching building and walked toward Kenneth's new classroom, and Kenneth's heart started to race again. The school secretary took him to the door with an encouraging smile.

1. 续写词数应为 150 个左右；
2. 请按如下格式在相应位置作答：

With a deep breath,Kenneth entered the classroom.

As the days went by,Kenneth realized his earlier worries were unnecessary.